Meet our new colleagues around the world!

Arun Nambiar joined us as a Senior Client Partner for Twitter in our India office. He holds a total of 9 years of work experience in the field of media sales for Sony Pictures Networks India Pvt. Ltd, Star India Pvt. Ltd and Hindustan Times Media Ltd. He is an avid fitness freak and automotive enthusiast.

So Vandavid joined us as a Client Solutions Manager for Facebook in our Cambodia office. He holds a total of 6 years of work experience in the field of media sales for Sanofi Cambodia and Socialyse. He enjoys playing football, video games and travelling.

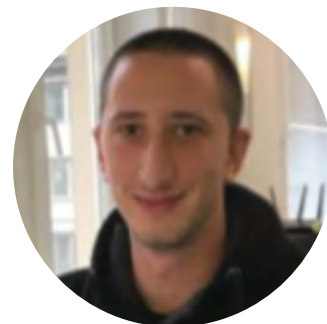

Tena Turčinović joined our team as an Account Manager for Httpool Croatia team. She'll be in charge of all non Facebook products. Tena has 4,5 years of experience in the FMCG industry where she was working as a Brand Manager and Head of Digital Marketing. She was responsible for creating and implementing long term and short term brand strategies, executing B2C marketing and digital campaigns, managing and developing P&L while driving market growth and developing projects that would digitalise brand experience. Apart from work, Tena is passionate about traveling, meeting new people, learning about new cultures and trying out local food. She loves sports, so she isn't afraid to try something new and exciting. At the moment she is doing yoga and functional training. On the weekends she loves to go on a field trip outside of Zagreb or go hiking in the nature with her friends. One of her favourite hobbies are puzzles and board games, except on the weekends when she stays at home.

Meet our new colleagues around the world!

Matic Knap is our new Front-end developer with passion for learning new programming languages. His career path included marketing in addition to programming, which proved to be what he really likes to do in life. Since his childhood, Matic loves to take things apart and then put them back together. When he was first introduced to the computer, he knew this was it. In his free time he likes to play football with friends or go running to clear out the head.

Greta Urman joined Httpool as Wise.Blue Business Development Director based in Zagreb (Croatia). Her wide range of experience in developing brands and businesses in multiple verticals is a valuable asset growing Httpool business: Greta has years of experience in building brands and developing businesses with leading European and Global companies in Telco, Finance, Beauty tech, Fashion, Entertainment and Retail industries. She has worked in big corporations and small startups, in global companies and for local businesses, managed projects with million EUR and close to 0 EUR budgets. This versatile experience makes it easy for Greta to understand different business goals, market specifics and customer needs. She has commercial acumen developing grounded and comprehensive marketing strategies to achieve targeted sales growth. She is big picture oriented strategist with entrepreneur spirit and doer's attitude. She advocates tech solutions and innovative business models. Greta is comfortable working in fast-paced, rapidly changing and culturally diverse environment. She describes herself as continuous learner and curiosity practitioner. She holds an international EMBA in Economics. Greta admires cultural diversity and discovery and is always ready to pack and travel. In her spare time, she enjoys walking and hiking, plays tennis, loves Sorrentino masterpieces and a bit of drama in European movies. She listens to electronic music (but was close to punk culture in school years) and can be spotted with a glass of sparkling wine and a book or Kindle on the road.
